About Facial Reflexology

Facial reflexology is a natural treatment that is designed to assess the underlying causes of our health discomforts as well as treating their symptoms. It has its roots in oriental medicine and in modern body knowledge.

The Sorensensistem therapy is a highly effective set of techniques developed and patented by Lic. Lone Sorensen that are combining facial reflexology with knowledge from South American Indians and up-to-date neuro-anatomy. It provides a holistic and pleasant treatment based on her scientific studies and the unique experience that Lic. Lone Sorensen obtained along almost 30 years of praxis and teaching around the world.

Our health is influenced by our physical, hormonal and emotional status. The Sorensensistem therapy addresses our body imbalances with positive influences on our physical well-being.

The treatment stimulates neurological points according to precise body maps by applying acupressure on the face using hands and specially designed creams. The neuro impulses generated this way reach specific parts of the body and increase blood circulation and lymphatic drainage. Organs functioning and body chemistry are re-balanced and improved.

Face stimulus also accelerates body operation and helps in enhancing natural healing processes.

About Lone Sorensen

Lic. Lone Sorensen has been practicing, teaching and developing Facial Reflexology for more than a quarter of a century.

She took Reflexology to Argentina and founded the first three schools in that country.

Her research and cooperation work have also been validated in several rehabilitation centres where her methods are used to help in the treatments on patients suffering, for example, from brain damage.

She is also applying her extended experience on children with mental illnesses, developing the specially designed Temprana TM therapy.

Lic. Lone Sorensen has taken part in many national and international conventions.

In 2001, she was awarded by the O.M.H.S. (a Humanitarian Organization depending from Argentina Government) with three honorary titles, becoming the first reflexologist in the world to obtain such recognition for her work in Zone therapy, foot and hand Reflexology and Facial Reflexology.

Lic. Lone Sorensen teaches Reflexology, in Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Finland, Holland, England, Japan, Mexico, Argentina, Spain, Poland, Czech Republic, Greece, Abu Dhabi/Dubai, Ireland, USA and Australia.
